With pleasure, I present the Eduitalia Guide "Study in Italy" 2024. Since 2007, this Guide has been offering prospective international students an overview of many of Italy's educational opportunities, with a focus on Italian language schools. With its network of partner institutions, the Eduitalia Guide has become a go-to resource for overseas students looking to learn about our language and culture.

Every year, tens of thousands of foreign students opt to study in Italy because of our excellent educational opportunities and highly-regarded culture. For everyone who wants to study our language and culture in Italy, the Eduitalia Guide is a valuable tool that makes navigating the various possibilities easier.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation works with conviction to promote Italian culture and language abroad through its diplomatic and consular network, Italian Cultural Institutes, and Italian Schools overseas. Because we strongly believe that international education is essential to fostering international understanding and collaboration and because we are aware of the value of studying in Italy for foreign students, we also support and encourage international student mobility. The number of international students coming to Italy has greatly increased over the years, and our country is as ready as ever to welcome them.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation has long benefited from Eduitalia's partnership in our efforts to promote the Italian language abroad and attract to Italy students interested in studying our language. I have no doubt that Eduitalia will continue to play a significant role in assisting us in realizing these shared objectives.

I sincerely hope you will choose Italy for your education and wish you the best of luck for the next academic year.

Maria Tripodi

Under Secretary of State of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation

ITALY

Italy is situated in the heart of the Mediterranean Sea, enjoying a mild climate with a multitude of landscapes. Two mountain ranges, charming lakes and many miles of sunny beaches principally characterize the country.

Italy is a nation that enchants you with each Region containing individual charm and naturalistic wonders, especially for its considerable historical, cultural and artistic heritage. It is also a country that prides itself on a culture of hospitality and a vast culinary tradition. Italy can justifiably be considered an open art gallery with its many testimonies to high quality art. UNESCO affirms that over half of the historical and artistic heritage in the world is found in Italy.

Everyone who has had the possibility to study and live abroad, even those coming for a short period of time, describes Italy as a paradise for lovers of art, culture and savoir-vivre. No other place in the world can boast the cultural and artistic treasures like Italy. From the largest city to the smallest village, one can immerse oneself in the deepest roots of Italian culture.

PIEMONTE

Piemonte is in the north-west of Italy. As the name says, Piemonte (= foothills) is a land of mountains: in fact, it is surrounded on its three sides by the Alps, which enclose in this region the highest peaks and the largest glaciers in Italy. The spectacular mountains of the region create incredibly beautiful landscapes; there are many ski resorts as well, like Via Lattea and Sestriere, which welcome winter sports enthusiasts with their modern facilities.

Lake Maggiore is the most sought-after tourist resort, with Stresa and the Borromean Islands, charming landscapes with ancient villas surrounded by beautiful lawns. Yet, nature is only one of the many attractions in Piemonte.

This region has many other facets: from Turin – the Italian capital of cars – with its history and its remarkable artistic heritage, to other several old towns. Then charming medieval castles, including the stately castle of Ivrea, and precious architectures, like the famous Residences of the Royal House of Savoy and the Sacred Mountains.

IAAD. – Istituto d'Arte Applicata e Design – is one of the most important Higher Education Institutes in Italy and Europe in the field of design.

Joining IAAD. means being part of an international network headed by AD Education, a leader in France amongst the private entities related to teaching design and applied arts and one of the leading protagonists in this sector in Europe.

IAAD. is a community that cultivates the dialogue between people, respecting individuality and diversity.

It believes in the power of imagination to redesign reality. The student is at the center of the didactic activity that combines both a cultural and practical approach. 90% of IAAD. students find employment within one year of graduation thanks to having:

- more than 200 professors, established professionals from the world of design;
- a close collaboration with a network of international partner companies;
- a focused job placement service that ensures over 3000 interviews per year.

IAAD. presents a post-diploma educational offer composed of 7 three-year courses:

Communication design - Digital Communication design - Innovation design per l'impresa, la cultura e il sociale - Interior design - Product design - Textile & Fashion design - Transportation design.

The offer is completed by one-year Master courses in English and Italian, two-year specialisation courses and training courses for professionals.

Istituto Secoli, recognized by the Italian Ministry for Universities and Research, is the first fashion school in Italy, founded in 1934. It aims to propagate the sartorial tradition and Made in Italy culture through a solid technical approach.

In 2022, Istituto Secoli opened a new school in Novara in partnership with Alexander McQueen, Canali, Gucci, Herno, In.Co, Loro Piana, and Versace. It specializes in shaping future prototypists through a distinctive "tailor-made training" program. The city and its surroundings host a significant fashion industry hub in Italy, a global phenomenon where top brands have operational headquarters for designing and producing collections.

The course: "Fashion Prototyping"

It is a highly specialized course for high school and university graduates.

Prototyping is an essential phase in the development process of a fashion collection, encompassing attributes of research, originality, quality, unique fit, and the essence of Made in Italy. It concludes and perfects the product development process while preparing the collection for mass production.

The prototypist possesses sartorial knowledge, capable of tailoring a complete garment with the highest manufacturing quality and can collaborate with the designer and patternmaker in defect correction and industrialization. Upon course completion, each partner company guarantees internships for at least three participants, aimed at potential recruitment.

From traditional/classical to the most advanced designs and techniques are learned through numerous hours of hands-on training, with emphasis on quality rather than quantity.

Tailored Instruction

Just like how Leonardo Da Vinci taught his followers, learning in a close relationship between the teacher and each student is achieved by small student-professor ratio (max.8).

Promise of Success

A combination of solid technical foundation, business perspective and practical experience results in a promise of success. The curriculum, therefore, includes market research and business analysis. Students enjoy chances to bluish up their skills through specialized Internship.

MARCHE

Travellers who want the best of central Italy should head for Le Marche, the third region alongside Tuscany and Umbria which makes up the area.

Located on the eastern side of central Italy, between the Adriatic Sea and the tall Apennine mountains, much of the region remains unspoiled by the ravages of mass tourism.

The Adriatic coast is known as a Mecca for “sun and sand” which has attracted holiday-goers for decades, but few venture far from the beaches. Inland, perhaps more so than anywhere else in central Italy, one can find places where time really has stood still. SICILIA

It is not easy to understand Sicily. Like a beautiful woman, Sicily requires a certain type of approach and cannot easily be won over. All one can do is to allow himself to be seduced, as were the first Mycenaeans when they passed through this way to buy obsidian and pumice stone in the Aeolian Islands when nothing else was known for cutting and polishing.

The Phoenicians also journeyed along these coasts, establishing trading stations and commerce with every corner of the Mediterranean. These were people who lived in peace, trading with Siculs, Sicans, and Elymians.

Sicily welcomes everyone, and has always done so. Everyone becomes Sicilian—you don't have to be born here to do so. Hermocrates of Syracuse made this point back in 424 BC when he said, "We are neither Ionians nor Dorians, we are Sicilians."

We use the hand gestures of the ancient Phoenician merchants; We are as crafty as the Greeks, as captious as the Byzantines, as blasé as the knights of Andalusia, and we still show great respect for the dead and the necropolises of all those who died on the island.

The Center for Italian Studies "BABILONIA" in Taormina, Sicily, passionately dedicates itself to the study of the Italian language and culture.

BABILONIA is not just a language school but a truly Cultural Center opened to both our International Students and the local community.

The cultural events that take place at BABILONIA represent an unique opportunity for our International students to feel part of the Italian community, to experience cultural exchanges with different Italy's culture realities, to meet literature authors during our book presentations, to enjoy art exhibitions during our painting and photograph openings, to enjoy classical and jazz live concerts in our school garden, "I Giardini di Babilonia"...

"Casa Silva", the historical house where our Center is located, is in the heart of Taormina: 200 meters away from the Greek Theatre along the beautiful staircase of Scalinata Timoleone. At "Casa Silva" our students can enjoy 1000 square meters of botanical garden with lemon, orange, tangerine, grapefruit trees, palm trees and other Mediterranean plant. The garden is part of the archaeological area of Taormina.

BABILONIA offers group and private General Italian courses as well as Culture courses (literature, history, art history, cinema), extra courses (cooking, ceramics, diving, hiking, etc) and Italian for special purposes (business, commercial correspondence, CELI exam preparation) for all levels (from absolute beginners to C2 level according to the Common European Framework for Languages).

For U.S. university students our school offer Semester programs and Short term programs for undergraduate and graduate programs, for Italian language courses as well as for art history, literature, cinema, history, archaeology, politics and humanities, taught in either Italian or English. Students may directly transfer credits into their home university or earn US university credits through our Accrediting Universities in USA.
